Al Slaggett, cheer leader for the past two years, and now leader at the university as a professor in Freshman English, and serving for a Master's degree, was elected grand knight. Slaggett is popular on the campus and has held many offices during his years at Notre Dame than any other man. He is a native of Saginaw, Mich., has been editor of the scholastic since 1917, was secretary of the Friends of Irish Freedom in 1919, lecturer, 1919; deputy grand knight, 1920; member of the degree committee of the K. of C.; an associate editor of the Dome; business manager of the Glee club, vice president of the K. of C. scholarship club, president of the Michigan club, commencement orator of the Senior class committee, and is the first monogram cheer leader the university has ever had.

Bugene J. Heidelein, Los Angeles, Cal., former lecturer and financial secretary, was made deputy grand knight. John R. Flynn, Syracuse, N. Y., varsity football star this year and last, was elected financial secretary. Eddie Anderson, Mason City, Iowa, football captain, and monogram cheerleader, was made warden. Albert "Slim" Carroll, Shawnee, Ill., W. McNerney, and James Welch, guards; Rev. P. J. Folk, C.S.C., head of the Lemerion library, chaplain; Rev. Francis W. O'Connell, C.S.C., Rev. Thomas C. O'Connell, C.S.C., and Prof. George N. Shuster, professor of English, trustees. The lecturer will be named later.

MOTHER KIDNAPS CHILD; COURT TO HEAR DAD'S TALE

Parents of Dwight Devon Perry to Wage Legal Battle Today for Son.

Appearance of little four and a half year old Dwight Devon Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight D. Perry, in superior court No. 2 Thursday morning will signal the beginning of court litigation between the mother and father to obtain custody of the child.

The boy will be brought to court upon the order of Judge Fred C. Klein, following the hearing of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus against Mrs. Perry and Claude Good, the lad's uncle. To make certain of the fulfillment of the lad from being removed from the jurisdiction of the court, the mother put up a bond of $500.

The court battle to obtain custody of the child is a sequel to the marital difficulties of the parents. Last Saturday, it is understood, the parents separated and upon Monday Mr. Perry instituted divorce proceedings against his wife. He brought a general charge of cruelty.

When the parents separated, the father returned to the home of his father, Albert Perry of Union township. Tuesday morning it is said, the child was playing about the yard of the grandparents, and no one was in the immediate vicinity. Suddenly Mrs. Albert Perry, the child's grandmother, was attracted by the child's screams. She rushed to the door to find the boy being carried off by the mother to a waiting automobile which was kept running, it is said, by the lad's uncle, Charles Good.

The father immediately brought his action to have the child redelivered to his custody and the court directed that the mother appear before him at 9:15 Thursday with the boy, at which time it will probably be decided to which parent the child shall go pending a hearing on the divorce action.

HALL ORGANIZATION WINS GLASS POSTS

Brownson and Carroll Men Land All Officers at Freshmen Election.

Organization by Brownson and Carroll halls at the University of Notre Dame won all offices of the Freshmen class for those halls in the most sweeping political victory in the school's history. Badin, the Freshmen hall, failed to name an officer.

Generally organization is defeated by opposing organization before such a victory is resultant, but the Badin hallmen although outnumbering the other hallmen, were new to Notre Dame and had no leaders as did the other two halls where there are many who have passed through the Notre Dame preparatory school and knew each other sufficiently to select a powerful slate.

The Freshmen met Monday to nominate officers. The candidates were numerous, at least fifty names being proposed. Balloting enabled selection of four men for each office, and these were voted upon yesterday afternoon, resulting in the following ticket's selection:

President, Ray Matthews, Brownson; vice president, Ward "Doc" Connel, Carroll; secretary, Jack Connel, Brownson; treasurer, Dave Lambert, Carroll.

President Rhomburg of the Senior class was in the chair.

CLOTHES LINE FIGHT ENDS BEFORE JUDGE

Cobler Wouldn't Take 'Dare' Even From Woman, Version of Witnesses.

A typical "clothes line" fight following the usual cutting down of the line and culminating in charges of assault and battery, ended in city court Wednesday after Judge George W. Omacht, deciding the question of who started the fight, found for the defendant and ordered Virgil Cobler, 16 years old, released.

Several neighbors of Mrs. Marie Earl, the complaining witness, and young Cobler, who testified as having seen the fracas which landed Cobler in court, swore the honors were about even and that the young woman "dared" Cobler to strike her.

According to the story told by the witnesses, most of whom lived at 406 S. Fellows st., a rooming house, also occupied by both Cobler and Mrs. Earl, or in the house next door, Mrs. Earl requested Cobler to move an automobile belonging to his father from the yard so that she could hang up a clothes line. Cobler moved the car to the edge of the lot line, the story continued, and went away.

Wouldn't Take "Dare."

Returning shortly afterward, he found the car had been run in the street, and it was claimed, was blocking traffic. Heedless of what happened to the clothes hung on the line, Cobler put the car back in its original position, it was said, and the fight started. Upbraiding him for his action, Mrs. Earl was alleged to have "dared" Cobler to slap her after he had threatened to do so "if she didn't shut up."

Cobler refused the statement of Mrs. Earl that he had held her by the throat against the side of the house, choking her, and swore that outside of holding her hands down to her sides after "she had slapped him in the face and kicked him in the stomach," he had not touched her.

The father immediately brought his action to have the child redelivered to his custody and the court directed that the mother appear before him at 9:15 Thursday with the boy, at which time it will probably be decided to which parent the child shall go pending a hearing on the divorce action.

Officers for the year will be named and papers will be read by Clifford Ward, Louis Brugner, Harry W. Flannery, and others at the meeting.

Talks "Laws and Economics" At Lions Club Luncheon

"Laws and Economics" was the subject of a talk given by W. G. Bonway, national field secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in an address given before members of the Lions club at the weekly meeting of the club held Wednesday noon at the Oliver hotel.

The Lions also heard a talk by Mrs. J. E. Neff, head of the memorial tree movement in South Bend, who explained the plan to plant memorial avenues of trees along the Lincoln Highway.

Visiting Minister Talks To Rotary Club Members

Rev. U. G. Leazenby of Chile, who is attending the Methodist conference here, discussed South American trade possibilities at the weekly meeting of the Rotary club held Wednesday noon in the Rotary room of the Oliver hotel.

Dr. Leazenby laid stress on the fact that in a commercial way, the difference between the Latin-Americans and the citizens of this country is one of misunderstanding of American business methods.

Various other ministers attending the conference, including pastors formerly at South Bend, were the guests of the Rotary club yesterday.

Dr. Royce Tells Pitiful Tale of Condition in Famine Countries

Pastor Attending Conference Here Pleads for Aid for Armenians.

Dr. Clarence D. Royce, who is attending the Methodist conference in session in Grace church, has just returned from Armenia and other Near East countries, where he went as a member of a commission sent to investigate conditions in these lands. He has been until recently State Director of Near East Relief in Indiana, but has lately been transferred to the National organization and placed in charge of one of the departments of work.

"I am going to Armenia I was prepared in my mind to find conditions not as distressing as had been reported," he said to a News-Times reporter. "We were there in the season of the year most favorable, and it was easy to imagine that there might not be such an appalling situation as had been truthfully reported as obtaining last winter. But I am ready to say now that what I saw of distress exceeded anything that had been conveyed to my mind by any of the descriptions I had heard or read."

"I have seen the worst slums in the great cities of America and in some of the larger cities of Europe, but the worst that I had ever seen appeared like the peak of prosperity compared with what I saw in Armenia. The country had been war torn for seven years, and no crops to speak of raised in all of that time. Industries are destroyed. Every kind of money is gone. There are no farm implements, no domestic animals, no food. It is scarcely necessary to add that there is practically no food except what comes in from the outside through the agency of Near East Relief."

"I walked through the entire business district of Erivan, the capital of Armenia, to see what they had for sale; and I am not exaggerating when I say that I did not see one single article offered for sale that I would have been willing to carry home as a gift. I could not have bought a garment of any kind or a pair of shoes for any amount of money. These things are simply not there. The little food supply consists wholly of home-grown fruit and vegetables in very small quantities, together with a very little bread and possibly three or four dressed sheep. This for a city of perhaps 100,000 people."

"Half the people are absolutely homeless and live on the streets. Just where they happen to be. Many of these are enroute to some place, they do not know where, in the hope of bettering their condition. But there is no place within reach where they will be better off."

"Clothing is one of the scarcest commodities. I saw only one person whom I could call even fairly well dressed. This was a young girl, on a Sunday morning, dressed about as a girl in this country from a fair to good home might be dressed going to school. With this single exception I saw no one dressed any better than an American would be dressed in doing rough and dirty work. And mighty few of them even that well off. Ninety-five per cent of the people are in the most pitiful rags, even if they are fortunate."

LADY WOODMEN IN QUARTERLY SOCIAL

Members From Four Cities Attend 'Revival' Session in South Bend.

Quarterly social meetings of South Bend, Elkhart, Goshen and Mishawaka members of the Lady Woodmen of the world were resumed after a lapse of several years at an afternoon and evening session in W. O. W. hall here yesterday.

An assembly of 140 members gathered for the business meeting which opened at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Routine matters were cleared up hurriedly to make way for the social time which followed.

Dinner was served by ladies of South Bend Grove No. 26, who were hostesses of the day. Following the dinner the following program presented:

Orchestra Selections—Trit Family of South Bend.
Reading—Miss Laurine Allen.
Piano and Drum Specialty—Mrs. J. Ward and Grandson.
Reading—Miss Eleanor Meyers.
Piano Selection—Miss Grace Miller.

Drill—Cedar Grove Drill Team of Elkhart.

The quarterly sessions, which were held regularly several years ago, will be continued, according to officials in attendance at the meeting yesterday. The next get-together will be under the auspices of the Live Oak Grove No. 1 of Elkhart. This meeting will probably be held early in December.

WASHINGTON SENT TO MICHIGAN CITY

Isom Washington, colored, who recently pleaded guilty to charges of petit larceny, was sentenced Wednesday by Judge Walter A. Funk in circuit court to serve a term of one to eight years at the Michigan City prison. Added to the prison sentence was a fine of $10. The prisoner was disfranchised for two years and rendered incapable of holding any office of profit or trust for that period.

Washington was indicted for stealing cigars from William Montcrief of the value of $64.57.

TICKET SLATE BIG.

Tickets for the Pan Hellenic card party to be given Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock may be procured at the Grace Corset Shop and from Pan Hellenic members.

Since the cause, that of creating a scholarship fund to help local students, is a decidedly worthy one, it is hoped that the allotted number of tickets will be filled. Plans are being perfected to make this one of the most enjoyable of the early fall parties. Prizes will be given, and both bridge and five hundred will be played.

enough to have any clothing whatever. I saw dozens that did not have even a rag to cover them. Most of these latter were children up to 10 or 12 years old, but occasionally we saw a man or woman without a stitch of any kind of clothing. The clothing situation is one of the greatest problems, and as it appears to me, nothing short of the most prompt action upon the part of America can avert the loss of hundreds of thousands of lives in Armenia this winter through exposure alone, not to mention starvation.

Many Fall in Street.

"Old clothing, almost in any condition is acceptable. Of course, the food situation is likewise critical. It will do no good to clothe these people and then let them starve, nor to feed them and let them freeze. "Right now, at this most favorable season of the year, people are dropping on the streets never to rise again. I have seen many of them dead and dying in the streets of Alexandropol and Erivan. Cholera is adding its toll to the death list, as well as all the other diseases that thrive on undernourishment. The dead are everywhere, once or twice daily and pick up the bodies of those who have died. And so common is it for people to die on the streets that such a thing no longer excites comment. The only effect around it is that people walk around to avoid stepping on the bodies."

"I have seen things in the last three months that will haunt my memory as long as I live—a lot of things that I would like to forget—if by forgetting I could cause them not to be. But it is impossible to forget, so real that it is impossible to exaggerate them. And while the conditions exist as they now do, I feel that it is not only my duty but to forget them myself, but also to bring them to the attention of as many more people as possible."

JEWES TO OBSERVE DAY OF ATONEMENT

Yom Kippur to Have Great Solemnity and Scrupulous Care Oct. 12.

The Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur in Hebrew, will occur this year on Wednesday, Oct. 12. It is observed with great solemnity and scrupulous care, from sunset on Tuesday to sunset on Wednesday evening by all Jewish people, the world over. The celebration of Yom Kippur is of great antiquity, and the occasion is regarded as the holiest day of the synagogue calendar. In the Bible, this holiday is denominated the "Sabbath of Sabbaths." "On this day shall atonement be made for you, to cleanse you; from all your sins shall ye be clean before the Lord." Leviticus 16:30.

The ceremonial observance of the Day of Atonement enjoins on the worshiper withdrawal from his work-a-day cares and occupations and devotion to meditation and prayer, that he may take account of himself. As a result of his introspection and a self-examination, the honest individual will know and confess his shortcomings, and seek forgiveness and make amends by performing deeds of benevolence, of service, and of good-will towards his fellowmen. Abstinence from food and drink is a traditional interpretation of the Biblical injunction to afflict the soul, which was of old commanded as essential in the observance of Yom Kippur. It is meant as a discipline of self-control, the better to reconcile man to God.

BELLE CHANGES PLEA, PAYS FINE FOR SPEED

In the Elkhart city court yesterday Miss Belle Galvin of South Bend paid a $15 assessment for automobile speeding. A jury that had been impaneled at the demand of W. H. Chester, attorney for the defendant, was excused by Judge D. M. Hoover after Mr. Chester notified the court that his client desired to change her plea to guilty.

So far as the city court is concerned, the action yesterday disposed of the last three charges that were filed against Miss Galvin, following her arrest here on the morning of Labor Day. She was arrested by a plain clothes man near Jackson blvd. and Second st., after she had driven north on Second st. from Harrison st. at high speed.

At the police station she was booked on the charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, public intoxication and automobile speeding. A city court jury four days later acquitted her on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated in spite of the fact that four policemen testified that she was intoxicated. When the date for her trial for public intoxication was set Atty's Chester protested and contended that she could not legally again be placed in jeopardy for what constituted practically the same offense of which she had been acquitted. Judge Hoover ruled against the contention and again set the case for trial. Atty's Chester then filed an appeal to the superior court where it was pending.

According to Policeman Michael Zepka, who took Ullery to the station, the car in which Ullery was driving was stalled on the Grand and Trunk track at Michigan st. Ullery, it is said, drove his car "as far as it could go east on Division st." and fell asleep at the wheel.

LEAVE SWANK CAR NEAR EDGE OF CITY

Find Valuable Clothing Intact But Fail to Locate Highwayman.

After more than a day of constant search in which the police and Lee Swank, owner of the Swank Dry Cleaning establishment made every possible effort to recover the Ford touring car and its load of 60 suits which was stolen Tuesday afternoon on Portage av., near Algona st., the missing car with its contents almost intact was discovered yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock in an alley in the 1000 block of N. Allen. A resident of that neighborhood noticed the car and phoned Mr. Swank.
